On the next page is an overview of my workflow:

I generally work in three stages, with one round of revisions per stage. I find it is helpful for my clients to meet with me over zoom at least once to discuss the concept sketches or the preliminary stage drawings.

1. Concept sketches: (general ideas defined)
2. Preliminary stage: (layout and composition defined with detailed sketch)
3. Final illustration: (piece render in full color and ready for submission)

The client is entitled to one round of feedback per stage (unless there is a large misunderstanding in project direction). Any additional revisions per stage will result in a $75/hr charge.

I will deliver a flattened file (.png or jpeg) of the artwork upon due date (or whenever project is completed). I will deliver a layered project file upon request and only if payment has been made by then. All file transfers are made via Dropbox download links (expires after 7 days).

My current illustration rate is $75 per hour (usually complete images in 4-15 hours depending on complexity) but I can also work with a flat rate.

I am also available to discuss the project in further detail if you would like to meet over the phone, zoom or Google Meet.
